Testosterone Cypionate is an anabolic injectable oil-based steroid, which includes testosterone and cypionate (ester added to the testosterone molecule). The presence of ester in the drug promotes long-term activity of testosterone in the body (approximately 15-16 days).

Test cyp, which has an androgenic index 100 and anabolic index 100 and contributes to a significant increase in muscle tissue and power rates, and this is proven by the numerous reviews of athletes who used this steroid.

Moreover, depo testosterone cypionate stimulates cell regeneration, improves recovery after intense workouts and increases athlete's stamina. The drug influences the anabolic receptors, making muscles accumulate more nitrogen, which contributes to muscle proteins synthesis.

Testosterone cypionate rapidly starts acting (peak concentration of testosterone in the blood is achieved after 24-48 hours) and acts for a long time, but at the same time a quite rapid accumulation of water in the body is observed, so it is not recommended to take the drug during the precompetitive preparation or during the cutting cycles.

On the other hand, water accumulation exerts positive effect on the joints (eliminates friction, stress and discomfort), allowing the athlete to perform complex exercises easily.

Testosterone cypionate weight gain

Testo cypionat 250 helps to gain up to 10 kg of muscle mass during the course. And it is a very good indicator.

Testosterone Cypionate cycle

The optimum dosage of testosterone cypionate should be chosen individually and the most frequent normal dose constitutes 200-600 mg per week. Some athletes, increase the dose up to 800-1000 mg per week or more, but the weight will be gained mainly due to the accumulation of water in the body but not due to the growth of muscle tissues, so the practice of mega doses is not always justified.

Although this drug has a long-term action, the best result is observed with the administration of at least one injection per week. Length of testosterone cyp course, usually constitutes about 8-10 weeks.
